

How do seniors feel committing to college for their sports?

Miranda Chan

California Lutheran University, Volleyball

“I am so excited to be furthering my volleyball career at California Lutheran University. I have always wanted to play volleyball in college and this school provides the perfect balance for athletics and academics. Even though our NDB volleyball season had been cut short, I am still thankful that I got to play one last time with my team. From being a nervous freshman on varsity to now, I am happy to say that I have not only grown as a player, but also as a person and a student.”

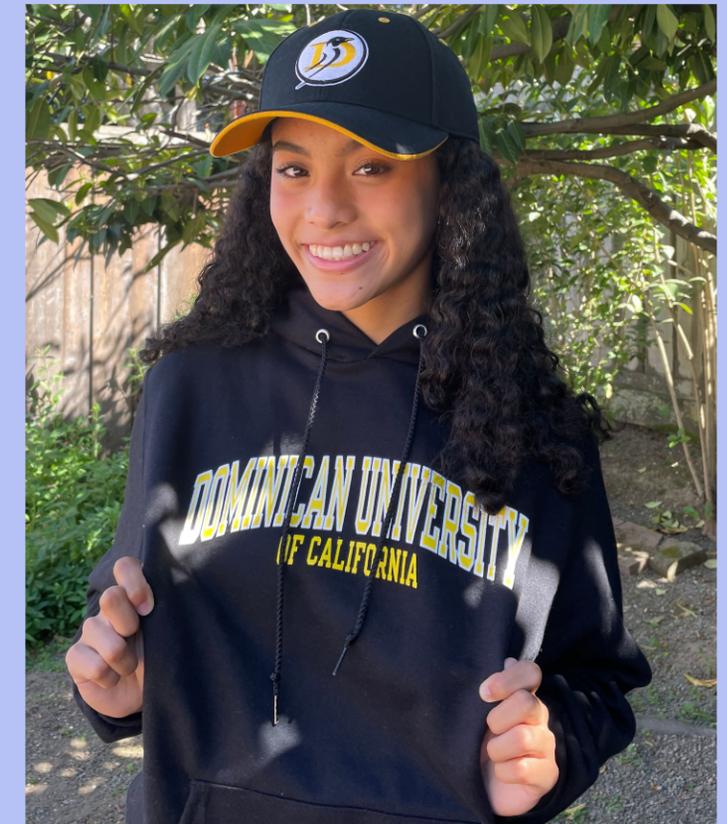

Maya Hart

Wellesley College, Swim

“I’m so excited to have the opportunity to continue my swim career through college. I’m most looking forward to meeting my new teammates and being a part of a new team. I can’t wait to see where the next four years will take me. Also, the NDB swim team is a lot of fun, very spirited, and has been there for me throughout my four years of high school. I am excited to see the team grow and see what the rising upperclassmen will bring to the team in the future. I’m going to miss it next year and I am looking forward to our last meet of the season.”

Alaiyah San Juan

Dominican University, Basketball

“I’m so excited to be attending Dominican University of California to continue my athletics and academics. The recruitment process for me was a little crazy with my injury and COVID-19, but I’m grateful for the opportunity to play collegiate basketball. I’m super sad to end my high school career, but I’m grateful for all the experiences from the basketball team. I’m especially grateful to have gotten a senior season with COVID-19. By far, my favorite memories from the four years would just be hanging out in the training room before games and practices.”
